" Success is the point where your most authentic talents, passion, values, and experiences intersect with the chance to contribute to some greater good. " --Bill Strickland According to MacArthur Fellowship " genius " award winner Bill Strickland, a successful life is not something you simply pursue, it is something that you create, moment by moment. It is a realization Strickland first came to when, as a poor kid growing up in a rough neighborhood of Pittsburgh, he encountered a high school ceramics teacher who took him under his wing and went on to transform his life. Over the past thirty years, Bill Strickland has been transforming the lives of thousands of people through the creation of Manchester Bidwell, a jobs training center and community arts program. Working with corporations, community leaders, and schools, he and his staff strive to give disadvantaged kids and adults the opportunities and tools they need to envision and built a better, brighter future. Strickland believes that every one of us has the potential for remarkable achievement. Every one of us can accomplish the impossible in our lives if given the right inspiration and motivation to do so. We all make ourselves " poor " in one way or another when we accept that we are not smart enough, experienced enough, or talented enough to accomplish something. Bill Strickland works with the least advantaged among us, and if he can help them achieve the impossible in their lives, think what each of us can do. Among Bill Strickland ' s beliefs: People are born into this world as assets, not liabilities. It ' s all in the way we treat people (and ourselves) that determines a person ' s outcome The sand in the hourglass flows only one way. Stop going through the motions of living--savor each and every day. Life is here and now, not something waiting for you in the future. You don't have to travel far to change the life you're living. Bill grew up in the Pittsburgh ghetto, four blocks from where he came to build one of the foremost job training centers in the world. He now speaks before CEOs and political leaders, church congregations and civic leaders. You only need to change your thinking to remake your world. Through lessons from his own life experiences, and those of countless others who have overcome their circumstances and turned their lives around, Make the Impossible Possible shows how all of us can build on our passions and strengths, dream bigger and set the bar higher, achieve meaningful success and help mentor and inspire the lives of others.

Doing What Others Say Can't Be Done Challenging observations and thought-provoking insights to help you make the impossible happen in your life.

This book is dedicated to offering you the opportunity to change your mindset from one that sees the impossible in life into one that sees only the possibilities in life. This book has been created to allow you to see the opportunities from the other side. In this book, we offer you a vision on aspects of changing your mindset, which you may not have realized before. As everything starts with you, this book highlights that miracles can happen - you need to believe in them. Starting from the way you think and ending with the way to act, this book is your guideline to making the impossible, possible.

We all have a story to tell this is my story, and it's a story that was written from the heart. This is about my search for my biological family and the reunion. I hope you enjoy this and to all adoptees that read this, I hope it brings you some understanding of who you are and that we can believe that anything impossible is possible. Anything Impossible is Possible is about my search for my biological family and how after 8 years we met. There were many obstacles during my search, and there was a sense of betrayal from the family of my adopted mothers side for me to know the truth. It wasn't easy but I was determined to keep going and find out who I was and where I came from. During my search I learned a lot about myself, and that helped me continue my journey. Every time it looked like things weren't happening, I would remember a saying when the world says give up, hope whispers try it one more time. That helped me keep going and bad thoughts went away. My kids were a big part of my desire to keep going. I wanted to leave them something to know who I am and how I grew up. The values my adopted mother instilled in me at a young age made me who I am as an adult. I lost my adopted father at age 14, and that made me grow up very quickly. As difficult as that loss was for me, it made me a strong individual, and I am grateful for the love they both gave me for they were my true parents. No one can understand the feeling of voidness I had for years and it was due to the unknown answers of who I was. Once I found my biological family all those feelings went away and I was happy with my life. I have had other bumps in the road, but I no longer suffer abandonment issues, the feeling of insecurity and voidness in my soul. This is my story and why I am a true believer that anything impossible is possible.

You got into this line of work because you believe in public service, the value of the commons, in social justice, and in strengthening people and communities. Yet somehow, you've become just another overworked business manager. In addition to that, the reputation of the government and non-profit sector is suffering. People are becoming increasingly disheartened by the lackluster efforts of government agencies and non-profits. So, where did it all go wrong? In Competing for Public Value, Andrew Hollo discusses the rise and merits of the impact investment model, which has the power to transform the public value sector. According to Andrew, it all comes down to two simple rules, unveiled in a step-by-step strategy. In this book, you'll discover how to clarify your identity by asking and answering five fundamental questions, how to set goals which match your public mission, how to make tough decisions, bring your biggest ideas to life, rapidly assess opportunities, and genuinely co-design with your customers or beneficiaries. If you're determined to make the impossible possible, Andrew Hollo can show you how.

Your 7-step whole-brain plan for improving your business, life, and career--from the man Deepak Chopra hails as "an extraordinary leader" Nothing is Impossible gives you the tools and knowledge to redefine problems and improve business and career performance by drawing on best practices from the creative arts and a wealth of other disciplines. It draws on many dramatic stories, including that of Richard Branson, other top self-made entrepreneurs and CEOs, and world-famous artists and athletes. "Very few business leaders walk the talk as much as Tom does when it comes to ethics in business." -- Professor Michael Luger, Dean, Manchester Business School "Tom is a gateway to millions of next generation trend setters and early adopters. Want to live your dreams--or even surpass them? Want the world to change for the better? Want to see a miracle? What are we waiting for? Why not be the miracle? That's the challenge Regina Brett sets forth in BE THE MIRACLE. To be a miracle doesn't necessarily mean tackling problems across the globe. It means making a difference, believing change is possible, even in your own living room, cubicle, neighborhood, or family. Through a collection of inspirational essays, Regina shares lessons that will help people make a difference in the world around them. The lessons come from Regina's life experience and from the lives of others, especially those she has met in her 24 years as a journalist. Each chapter is a lesson that can stand alone, but together they form a handbook for seeing the miracle of change everywhere. With upbeat lessons from "Do Your Best and Forget the Rest" to "Sometimes It's Enough to Make One Person Happy," these lessons will help you accept and embrace yourself, challenge and change yourself, and better serve others.
